

Who is your Starter Team?

Placemakers, assemble!

Sometimes project teams come together organically, often you'll need to work intentionally and to bring together a group of collaborators with complimentary experience, skills, and resources. Use the grid below to make sure the team you assemble is representative of your community and well-suited for the work ahead.

As you work, ask yourself: Who is working together on this creative placemaking initiative? Who is already on the initial planning team and who else do you need to recruit?

Who Is Your Starter Team?

Who is working together on this creative placemaking initiative?

Who is already on the initial planning team and who else do you need?

People from....	People we have on the team	Need to identify/recruit
Residents and neighborhood leaders
Community development agencies
Artists, other creative workers, or culture bearers
Arts or cultural organizations
Youth, seniors, newcomers, other groups that should be represented
Town/ municipal officials
Others: educators, public safety, social service, Business owners, developers...		