

Values Exercise

Establishing shared values in a creative placemaking project is an important step towards mutually beneficial partnership, but how do you get there?

Use the prompts on the worksheet below to spark conversation with your partners—take notes as you go and bring your polished list of values with you to future meetings. Even if you make changes to these values over time, use this exercise to ground your conversations in the mutual respect, hopes, and understanding that hold your partnership together.

→ What core values or principles inform and drive your arts and community development work?

-
-
-

→ What's your why? Why do you want to do creative placemaking here and now?

-
-