Fifth Third Bank Announces $100 Million Investment in Opportunity Zones

NEW YORK and CHICAGO – Fifth Third Bank, National Association, announced today that it would invest $100 million in projects that support community development through four Opportunity Zone fund partners. The first two partners were announced at a 9:00 AM press conference at the national headquarters of Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC). The National Equity Fund, an affiliate of LISC, and Raymond James will be the first two partners to identify and structure investments meeting the Bank's criteria. The remaining two partners will be announced in Chicago on Monday, Jan. 27.

The funds will be used to develop projects in low-income urban and rural communities across the Bank's 10-state footprint. This investment represents one of the largest made by an institution with a social impact investment strategy in Opportunity Zones.

"We are committed to forging impactful partnerships that deliver community revitalization," said Greg D. Carmichael, chairman, president & CEO, Fifth Third Bank. "We are proud to use this innovative approach to ensure our capital will serve the communities that are most in need."

"This long-term investment in Opportunity Zones is a call to action for communities to partner with institutions that are aligned with making a social investment," said Byna Elliott, chief enterprise responsibility officer. "Building affordable and middle-income housing, increasing capital for small businesses and workforce development programs benefits all of our community stakeholders."

Designed to spur long-term private sector investment into economic development and job creation in economically distressed communities, Opportunity Zones were established as part of the 2017 Tax Cut and Jobs Act to promote investment and development in a significant number of qualified low-income census tracts. Investment projects will need to satisfy the following Fifth Third social impact criteria:

- Located in a qualified Opportunity Zone
- Public welfare investment eligible
- Project will be developed by an experienced, credit-worthy sponsor
- Located in an MSA where Fifth Third has determined community need under the CRA
- Actionable before the end of June 2020
- Expected to generate a positive economic return
- Offers opportunities to expand relationships with the bank

FIFTH THIRD BANK NEWS RELEASE

Fifth Third is committing $25 million to the NEF Fifth Third Opportunity Zone Fund I LLC and $25 million to the Raymond James Opportunity Zone Fund IV. The remaining $50 million will be committed to two other partners. The funds will be used in three key investment categories: affordable housing; workforce housing and other community priorities for multifamily development; and certain non-residential or mixed-use real estate serving a particular community need, as well as projects that contribute to local job and business growth.

“We are excited to help Fifth Third break new ground in Opportunity Zones with a strategy that prioritizes local impact along with a reasonable financial return,” said Maurice A. Jones, LISC president and CEO. “Not only does this capital help LISC’s affiliate NEF fuel housing for working families, but it also features a novel approach that will represent the best intent of the Opportunity Zone incentive.”

Fifth Third Opportunity Zone investment projects that are currently being considered include the redevelopment of affordable and workforce housing with a minimum of 51% of the units targeted to families with income at or below 80% of the area median income; forming a partnership with a housing authority organization to bring a grocery store to a food desert; investment in neighborhoods that are part of larger strategic growth initiatives in various cities; community centers for public housing residents and creating a commercial kitchen for use by small business entrepreneurs.

The first projects from the Fifth Third Opportunity Zone investments should be announced by June 30, 2020.
