PROJECT SNAPSHOT
Summer Learning in Kansas City

The Swope Corridor Renaissance Upper Room (Upper Room) provides an eight-week summer camp that now serves 3,000 elementary and middle-school students from low- to moderate-income households in Kansas City, MO. The Upper Room seeks to give hope to students and families by providing them with tools to put their education on a track to success. The program focuses on improving reading skills while also providing arts and sports activities. LISC has provided a bridge loan to the Upper Room’s summer academic camp for several consecutive years, with loan amounts increasing as the program has grown. Loans have ranged in size from $1.3 million to $3.5 million and are used to pay salaries for instructors, counselors and other camp expenses. LISC financing bridges per pupil funding from the Missouri Department of Elementary & Secondary Education.

Terms subject to change. All loans are subject to underwriting and credit approval. For more information on LISC’s loan products: www.lisc.org • lending@lisc.org
