NORTHEAST CORRIDOR QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN

What:

This plan is the compilation of many great ideas and countless hours of hard work. It is a shared vision that captures the energy, enthusiasm and commitment this community has for ensuring all a better place to live, work and play.

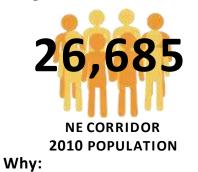

• This plan should be respected as a real foundation for the direction and future of our community. It is the largest, most comprehensive plan ever in this area.

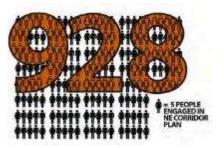

Who:

(NE Corridor Neighborhoods) Crosstown Devington Friends & Neighbors Herron-Morton Hillside Kennedy-King Keystone Monon Keystone-Millersville Martindale-Brightwood Millersville at Fall Creek Valley Oakhill Old Northside Oxford Reagan Park

To engage and empower neighbors to create one voice for positive change in our community thereby creating a blueprint for neighborhood sustainability and funding.

How:

 King Park and UNEC co-convened both resident and institutional stakeholders of the NE Corridor, including businesses, churches, nonprofits and neighborhood associations to write this plan. After 16 months of meeting regularly to collectively write this plan, the process produced a true representation of the community, its concerns, goals and vision.

QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN

WHAT IS A QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN?

- Creates shared and supported VISION within a diverse community
- Provides a community with one VOICE on important issues, concerns and goals
- Creates PROJECTS ready for funding opportunities
- Establishes ACCOUNTABILITY with measurements of accomplishments and demonstrated impact
- Builds SUSTAINABLE RELATIONSHIPS among adjoining neighborhoods, neighbors and residents
- Provides residents opportunities for LEADERSHIP development and application
- Produces a BLUEPRINT for FUNDING and NEIGHBORHOOD SUSTAINABILITY
- Celebrates the PAST, PRESENT AND FUTURE of the community

The NE Corridor Quality of Life Plan achieves and realizes all of the above. It embodies the philosophy of asset-based community development – focusing on identification and development of assets, strengths and opportunities. The plan captures the vision of its residents and translates it into achievable projects and programs. It identifies and incorporates eight areas of community focus into a comprehensive and interrelated vision.

Business Growth
Culture + Livability + Connectivity
Education
Health + Wellness

Housing Jobs + Training Safety + Crime Youth Engagement

HOW DO YOU USE A QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN?

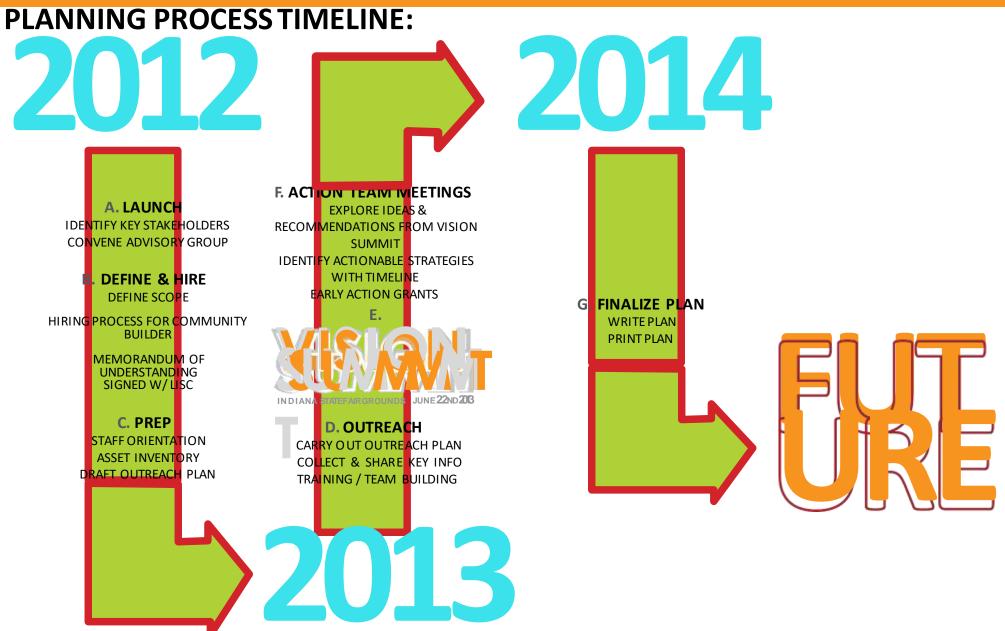

The Science of Planning and the Art of Making It Work – the desired outcome of a well-constructed Quality of Life Plan, such as ours, is a living blueprint for neighborhood progress and success. It is not to sit on a shelf. It is to be used to inform and direct the strategic decisions of our neighborhood leaders; provide a planning process road map to other communities wanting to replicate our success; and highlight and attract investors and other potential partners interested in supporting us in realizing our vision.

This plan is the compilation of many great ideas and countless hours of hard work. It captures the energy, enthusiasm and commitment this community has for ensuring all a better place for live, work and play. It is a true representation of its people and as such should be respected as a real foundation for the direction and future of our community. The plan will be a living document, updated quarterly and accessible to all stakeholders at www.necorridor.com.

This Word Cloud was built from the words most often used in our 292 Listening Sessions.

QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN

THE PROCESS:

The Who: Neighborhoods of Crosstown, Devington, Friends & Neighbors, Herron - Morton, Hillside, Kennedy-King, Keystone Monon, Keystone-Millersville, Martindale-Brightwood, Millersville at Fall Creek Valley, Oakhill, Old Northside, Oxford and Reagan Park.

The Where:

- North 56th Street
- South 16th Street
- East Sherman Drive (includes a portion extending to Emerson just north of 38th Street)
- West College Avenue

Boundaries are soft as they cut into portions of neighborhoods. Engagement and inclusion focused on the neighborhoods within the corridor as a whole.

The Why: To engage and empower neighbors to create one voice for positive change in our community thereby creating a blueprint for neighborhood sustainability and funding.

The How: King Park and UNEC co-convened both resident and institutional stakeholders of the NE Corridor, including businesses, churches, nonprofits and neighborhood associations to write this plan. After 16 months of meeting regularly to write this plan, the process has produced a true representation of the community, its concerns, goals and vision.

Our planning process kicked off in August 2012 with monthly NE Corridor Quality of Life Steering Committee meetings. This committee continues to meet monthly. The first quarter of 2013 focused on engagement and data collection. One-on-one listening sessions were designed to be a key data source. Conducted across a diverse mix of 292 residents, businesses, organization leaders and those who work in the area. these sessions provided an opportunity for participants to share their voice and experiences of the corridor's strengths, weakness opportunities and threats. The data collected from these listening sessions became the foundation of the eight NE Corridor Quality of Life Action Teams.

Approximately 250 people attended the Vision Summit at the Indiana State Fairgrounds on June 22, 2013. From July - February 2014 the NE Corridor Quality of Life Steering Committee/Action Teams have met monthly to compile and create the NE Corridor Quality of Life Plan.

The What: This plan is the compilation of many great ideas and countless hours of hard work. It is a shared vision that captures the energy, enthusiasm and commitment this community has for ensuring all a better place to live, work, and play. This plan should be respected as a real foundation for the direction and future of our community. It is the largest, most comprehensive plan ever in this area.

NECORRIDORHISTORY

At first glance, it may be difficult to understand the reasoning behind the geographical makeup of the NE Corridor. What is the connection between the uptown suburban village of Millersville and a memorial park located in the Kennedy – King Neighborhood? The answer is Connectivity. At its core the NE Corridor could be interpreted as a composition of neighborhoods around various modes of connection – Fall Creek, Inter- Urban Rail, Monon Rail, IndyGo and Fall Creek Trail to name just a few. From King Park to Keystone Avenue this group of residents, businesses, landmarks, institutions and organizations are connected through a diverse and rich history of shared impact and pride.

The history of the NE Corridor tells us that over the years our ability to remain connected has at times been challenged and somewhat fragmented. The NE Corridor Quality of Life Plan delivers the foundation to solidify and strengthen these connections as it produces a vibrant and united NE Corridor.

The fairgrounds moved to 38th Street and Fall Creek in 1892, and have stayed there ever since. Every year, the fairgrounds house various events of consumer entertainment, agriculture, concerts, education and, of course, the summer festival. It attractsover 900,000 visitors per year.

The grounds are home to many of Indiana's most popular venues like the Coliseum, racing track and grandstand. The Coliseum was even used as a model for both the Colt's Lucas Oil Stadiumand the Pacer's Banker's Life Fieldhouse. The Monon Rail has origins in Chicago in 1879 and got the name 'Monon' for it's convergence of main routes in Monon, Indiana.

The Indianapolis and Louisville Railroad came into being in 1916 and would change the transit system for Hoosiers for vears to come. The rail to trail movement would spur utilization of the abandoned Monon Rail right of way in 1999, bringing a current 16.7 mile system of pedestrian and bike greenway to Indianapolis, spanning its way through from the NE Corridor to Westfield. Greg Lindsey's 2004 Study of the Monon showed that its redevelopment as a trail has resulted in a 14% increase in property value in the northern land adjacent to the Trail. We need to and can replicate this success in the southern part.

Founded over 175 years ago, Millersville has straddled the Washington and Lawrence township line in Marion County on the northeast side of Indianapolis since the early 1800's.

Its location on Fall Creek was chosen by Peter Negley and Seth Bacon and other early settlers for their mills, because it was conveniently located near the toll road that transported goods and services to and from Pendleton and beyond. The iconic Fletcher Mansion and Cathedral High School are located in Millersville and are key assets to the NE Corridor.

Golf was elevated to an elite position among country club enthusiasts as early as the beginning of the 20th century. Even though exclusionary policies melded with state and local legal positions, keen interest among African Americans for sports, including golf, was not diminished. With the 1920s creation of Douglass Park, which was designated as the park for "Negroes" in Indianapolis, enthusiasm for all sports continued to build. The original Douglass Park Golf Course consisted of three holes which were expanded to nine holes in 1936. In the Millersville community, the iconic Fletcher Mansion was home to the prominent banker Stoughton Fletcher. Fletcher's original acres spanned between Millersville Road, 46th Street, Arlington Avenue, 56th Street and Fall Creek. Additionally there were five cottages, greenhouses, stables and horse trails and even a race track within the estate's boundaries. Elaborate landscaping was designed by Belgian landscape architect Alex Tuchinsky which included the gated entrance, rareand exotic plantings and waterfalls from a Greek Temple which still exists.

Charlie Wiggins came to the Indianapolis area in 1922 and quickly became the city's top mechanic. When Wigginstried to enter his car into racing's most prestigious event, the Indianapolis 500. he was turned down because of his race. Undeterred by this, Wiggins, alongside other African-American drivers, formed their own racing league. Wiggin's success and rise to fame as the "Negro Speed King" quickly earned him a spot at the Gold and Glory Sweepstakes held at the Indiana State Fairgrounds. Wiggins would go on to win this race three times over the next decade.

IUPUI

The Indianapolis Bureau of Park Commissioners appointed George Kessler as landscape architect February 1, 1908. He served a total of eight years as a consultant and was responsible for the inception of a general park system for Indianapolis.

Kessler laid out plans for the NE Corridor, University Square and highly detailed, Garfield Park. Upon his arrival in Indianapolis, Kessler stressed the importance of systematic transportation routes and adequate park lands until his death in 1923.

The Electric Inter-Urban Railroad Streetcar ran along 38th Street to Ft. Benjamin Harrison from 1900 till 1940. Its past and service heritage is still easily recognizable, as the land easement that hosted the streetcar is still visible today! The Inter-Urban Railroad was a viable choice for transit for many Indianapolis residents until it was replaced by the vanguard of the automobile. Purdue University consolidated its Indianapolis facilities on 38th Street opposite the State Fairgrounds. In 1961, they opened the A Building to house the Indianapolis Extension. After the merger into IUPUI, classes continued on 38th Street until the Schools of Science and Engineering and Technology relocated to new buildings downtown.

By 1950 64% of Americans were living in urban areas. Saturday morning children's TV programming began baby-sitting those baby boomers and by 1957 the City of Indianapolis had gone "atomic", introducing a modern international style of architecture to define the cities' first suburbs.

These NE communities are home to mostly ranch style, split level or single-story homes on 3/4 to 1 acre lots. Many professionals bought lots in Devington and many of the homes were designed by architects who preferred a contemporary style. Brightwood is a community with a long past dating back to a signed plat of the area to the Wiles brothers in 1874. The area on the northeast side has always been a solid working man's settlement of a special kind. It's history is as long and colorful as any spot in Indianapolis with memories in railroads, pro boxers and John Dillinger.

The 1960s brought about plans for the construction of the I-65 and I-70 interstates which cut through portions of Brightwood. The interstates displaced residents and still today represent an intrusion of the life of the neighborhood. The Meadows' longest tenant to date, the one time Meadows' Office Building, was renovated for the Marion County Health Department laboratory and environmental health facilities in the early sixties. This iconic 7 story building has been at the heart of the NE Corridor for several decades.

The first Public Zoo for residents of Indianapolis was located within our very own NE Corridor in George Washington Park.

The Washington Park Zoo opened in 1964 and had great success with many attractions and features until 1987 when city leaders began to redevelop White River State Park and decided to relocate the zoo.

Many of the original features from the Washington Park Zoo, such as the zoo train, are still part of today's Indianapolis Zoo.

Robert Kennedy spoke to a largely black crowd at 1700 North Broadway at what was supposed to be a routine campaign stop. When Kennedy arrived he turned to an aide and asked "Do they know about Martin Luther King?" The crowd had no idea and it was left to Kennedy to break the news that Dr. King had been shot and killed that night in Memphis. The crowd gasped in absolute horror.

Kennedy spoke of King's dedication to love and justice. Today a memorial park is dedicated to these two American heroes. Founder Rev. Dr. Boniface Hardin founded Martin University with seven students. The University's original mission to serve low-income, minority and adult learners has not changed, although students from all backgrounds have always been welcome.

Martin University employs a learning method known as andragogy, as opposed to pedagogy, encouraging adult learners to bring their life and work experiences into classroom discussions.

It moved to its current location on Avondale Place in the Martindale-Brightwood neighborhood in 1987. Then Director of Parks Ray Irvin and the City of Indianapolis began studying a narrow piece of land along 14 greenway corridors in Indianapolis. The linear park concept would connect over 52 parks in our community laid along our rivers and streams.

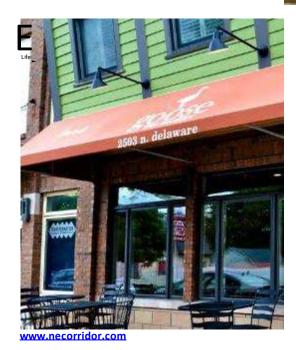

Thanks to a couple of old rail corridors even more neighborhoods were added to the grid of green spaces. By 1991, Indianapolis had its first trail on the ground along Fall Creek. It was the NE Corridor's first greenway! The Emerson Branch Library opened in October, 1957 in a frame house at 3642 N. Emerson Avenue. Books and people quickly crowded the house and the need for a larger building was apparent. A new 7,500 square foot building in the same location opened in March 1962. Over the years space was needed for the addition of computers. This branch served the community until 2003. In mid 2003, the East 38th Street Branch Library at 5420 East 38th Street opened. Located on three acres, the library has 16,000 square feet. The building has a unique triangular shape and an open design with windows on all three sides.

One-half acre is designated as wetlands. Over 300 butterfly plants are planted on the perimeter of the wetlands.

Fall Creek Place

2003

U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development awarded Indianapolis with a Homeownership Zone Award for the way the city used a $4 million HUD grant to stimulate other public and private investment in the Fall Creek Place redevelopment area.

The new Avondale Meadows YMCA is a community enriched in changing lives. The revitalization project includes cradle-to-college educational opportunities, mixed income housing youth and development programs, new employment opportunities as well as health and wellness programs.

After the closure of several project based apartment complexes in the early 90's, over $60M in city and federal, tax credits, foundation support and traditional financing has been invested into this model of holistic community revitalization. Mary's Seafood & Pastries.

Set in the Audubon Gardens neighborhood on the northeast side of Indianapolis. Mary's is a snug little eatery known for its excellent food, long wait, and its employees' sassy attitudes. It received a facade makeover in 2013 courtesy of United Northeast Community Development Corporation and Local Initiatives Support Corporation.

ASSET MAP

The strength and future of the NE Corridor begins with its assets. Neighborhoods, churches, schools, retail, parks, non-profits and businesses are just a few of the entities that form the foundation of the corridor and its essence.

Our diverse and committed residents coupled with a proven record of concern, vision and action remain one of the area's key assets.

BUSINESS GROWTH

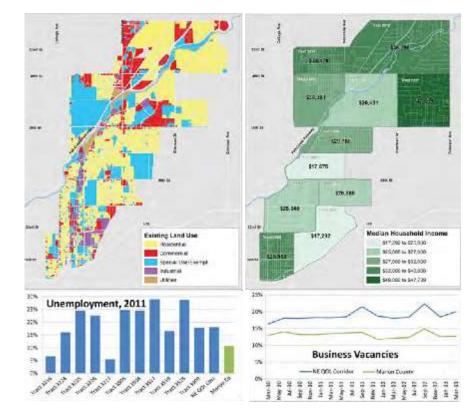

WHAT WE KNOW:

The NE Corridor has seen an increase in business vacancies, reaching 20% in March of 2013. These vacancies present an opportunity for new businesses to come into the area and revitalize the many quaint business nodes that add tremendous character and service to our neighborhoods. Existing business corridors have created great momentum and vibrancy along stretches of the NE Corridor.

WHAT WE FOUND:

VISION STATEMENT:

The NE Corridor will include several clusters of environmentally safe and accessible neighborhood businesses including retail, light manufacturing and professional services and where neighbors and business owners work to reinvest in each other.

NE CORRIDOR INDIANAPOLIS

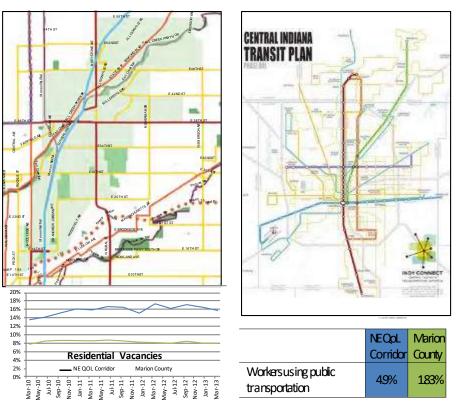

QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN

WHAT WE KNOW:

The NE Corridor is in a great, centralized location. Its proximity to Broad Ripple, Indiana State Fairgrounds and Downtown Indianapolis along with its assets of Fall Creek Waterway and Trail, the Monon Trail and numerous green spaces and parks provide a desirable combination of simple nature and bustling urbanism. The NE Corridor works to minimize its "carbon footprint" as it can boast one of the largest public transit ridership rates in the city. 4.9% of workers in the NE Corridor use public transit compared to just above 1% of those in Marion County.

WHAT WE FOUND:

VISION STATEMENT:

The NE Corridor will cultivate pride by advocating for clean environments; providing access to safe transit options and fortifying diversity to live, work and play.

EDUCATION

NE CORRIDOR INDIANAPOLIS

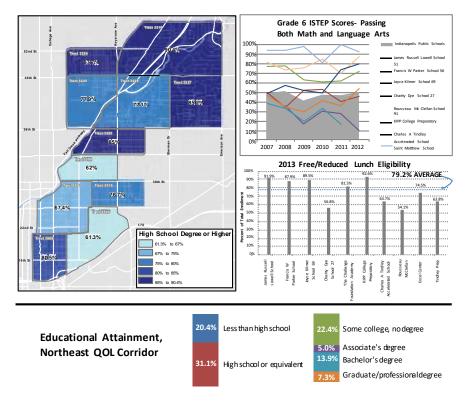

QUALITY OF

WHAT WE KNOW:

The majority of NE Corridor residents stop their education at high school. In order to compete for 21st century careers and increase earning potential, the number of people in the NE Corridor gaining post-secondary education must increase. This begins with early education and the enrollment of NE Corridor children in high quality early learning centers. Positive and enriching experiences throughout the educational process will build lifelong and generational learners.

WHAT WE FOUND:

VISION STATEMENT:

The NE Corridor will have an education system centered on ethical and critical thinking that embraces and prepares the whole human being for lifelong learning and contributes to the community.

HEALTH + WELLNESS

NE CORRIDOR INDIANAPOLIS

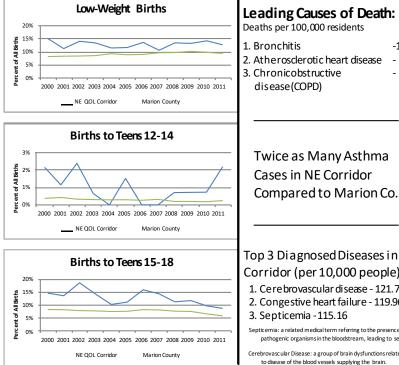

QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN

WHAT WE FOUND:

WHAT WE KNOW:

Health and wellness concerns in the NE Corridor are many, including the lack of medical facilities, the need for greater access to healthy foods and the disparate physical and mental well-being. Increasing access to healthy and affordable foods through new grocery stores, community gardens, urban farms and farm stands is important for the overall health of residents. Low-weight and premature births are above the county average and could be attributed in part to lack of prenatal care. This underscores the strong need for everyone in the community to have access to quality, affordable health insurance, ensuring increased health care and well-being. The large number of vacant properties scattered throughout the corridor also presents the opportunity for healthier environments through interactive beautification projects.

Cerebrovascular Disease: a group of brain dysfunctions related to disease of the blood vessels supplying the brain.

HOUSING

NE CORRIDOR INDIANAPOLIS

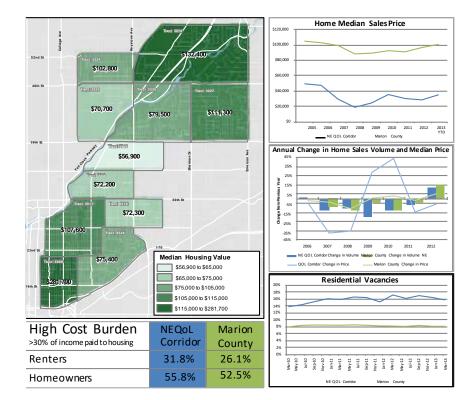

QUALITY OF

WHAT WE KNOW:

The NE Corridor has a great diversity of housing in both age and price. Median housing values range from $56,900 in some census tracts to $281,700 in others. While home sales and prices are once again on the increase, the NE Corridor still has double the vacancy rate of Marion County as a whole. NE Corridor median sale prices are half that of Marion County. While this creates great buying opportunities for newcomers to the area, existing residents suffer the impact of a higher housing cost burden. This situation points to the clear need for more quality affordable housing.

WHAT WE FOUND:

VISION STATEMENT:

The NE Corridor will be a great place to live, with an attractive environment, excellent public infrastructure and quality housing options for everyone.

SAFETY + CRIME

NE CORRIDOR INDIANAPOLIS

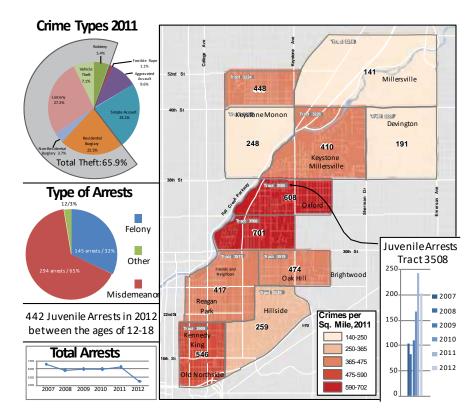

QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN

WHAT WE KNOW:

Safety is an issue that unites those in the NE Corridor. Larceny, simple assault and residential burglary lead the statistics and drive up the crime rate in the NE Corridor. The area at the center of the NE Corridor – north of 30th Street, south of 38th Street and east of Fall Creek Parkway – has one of the highest crimes rates in the city. Prevention, education and crime watch initiatives will help the efforts to decrease crime in the NE Corridor. Establishing better and stronger relationships between the police department and adults and youth that work and live in our community will work to further increase safety in the NE Corridor.

WHAT WE FOUND:

VISION STATEMENT:

The NE Corridor will be safer through crime prevention and reduction efforts and having engaged neighbors.

YOUTH ENGAGEMENT

NE CORRIDOR INDIANAPOLIS

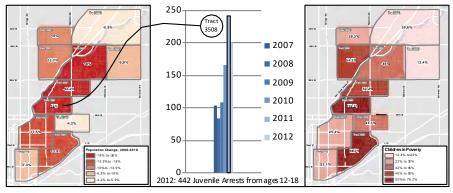

QUALITY OF LIFE PLAN

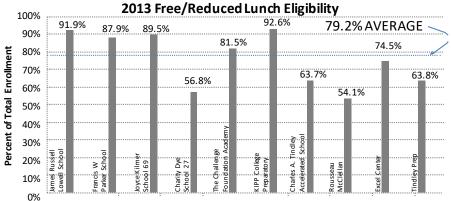

WHAT WE KNOW:

2,898 youth under the age of 19 live in poverty in the NE Corridor. On the positive - juvenile arrests decreased 28% in 2012 (2011/627 to 2012/451) and teen births are at the lowest rates in over 10 years. Even with this decrease, however, both NE Corridor juvenile arrest and teen birth rates are higher than those of Marion County. This shows a real and immediate need to provide NE Corridor youth with the affordable services, experiences and activities to ensure they receive the resources they need to become successful.

WHAT WE FOUND:

VISION STATEMENT:

The NE Corridor will propel youth toward positive, successful outcomes by strengthening families, promoting and developing peer-to-peer activities and connecting youth to community assets.
